GREENVILLE

Missionary Society Met with Mrs.
Charles Potter. Death of John W.
Baker—Village Mention.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Home Missionary society of the Greenville Congregational church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Potter on Central avenue. There was a full attendance of members and the meeting was interesting and profitable. A well-written paper describing the beginnings of home missionary work in the south, particularly at Hampton, was read by Mrs. Edwin Lathrop. A number of the ladies spoke of their visit to Mrs. Dinah W. Pace, who was the guest of friends in town last week, and told of the work she is doing as a missionary at Covington, Ga. The ladies sewed during the afternoon.
C. D. Greening and Miss Woodward were appointed a committee to arrange a programme for the March meeting.

OBITUARY.

John W. Baker.

John W. Baker passed away Wednesday night at 10.15 o'clock at his home on Roosevelt avenue in East Norwich, after having been in poor health for a year past. He had been more seriously ill for three months and his death, which was due to heart trouble and dropsy, was not unexpected.

Mr. Baker was born in London, England, September 25, 1832, the son of George and Amelia Baker. Twenty-eight years ago he came to this country and for 25 years was employed at the plant of the United States Pinning company, being in the calendar room. He retired from work about three years ago and has since lived at his home in East Norwich on East Spalding farm, where he first took up his residence 8 years ago. Almost all his life here has been passed in Preston, which later became East Norwich.

In London 36 years ago, Mr. Baker married Miss Elizabeth Turner, who survives, with two sons, Herbert J. and William G. Baker, and three daughters, Mrs. William Mabrey and Misses Maude and Mollie Kendall, all of Norwich. There are also one brother, George Baker of Greenville, and three sisters in London, England.

Mr. Baker was an esteemed member of St. Andrew's Episcopal church of Greenville. He was also a member of Court City of Norwich, Foresters of America, and of Hugh H. Osgood lodge, I. O. O. F., Manchester United, of Torrville.

Mr. Baker's upright character and sterling worth, coupled with a genial disposition, made him respected and liked by a wide circle of friends, to whom the news of his death will bring sincere regret.

JUDGE GREENE TO PRESIDE HERE

Will Sit at Short Calendar Session on Friday and Change Waterbury Assignment with Judge Williams—Expect to Finish Suit of Jewett vs. Moran Today.

At the short calendar session of the superior court today Judge Gardiner Greene will preside, taking the place of Judge Williams, who, it is understood, will go to Waterbury next week for the criminal business in the superior court there. It will be decided this week whether the Krichman case will go on next week or not.
Judge Greene presiding at the session now holding in this city while Judge Williams is at Waterbury, if that arrangement is made, and at the conclusion of the criminal business there Judge Greene will take his regular assignment there, which it was expected would be for civil business. Because of this change in the assignment Judge Williams stated in court Wednesday that he did not think he ought to start a new case here today, should the suit of Jewett vs. Moran be completed.

The entire day Wednesday was occupied with hearing witnesses in the case of Mary Jewett vs. Sarah Anne Gardiner, and others, but it is figured that it will be completed today, as Attorney Hull stated that he had but four or five more witnesses to call to finish his case.

At the opening of court Mrs. Moran was recalled and her cross examination was completed, and this closed the case for the plaintiff.

Miss Jewett was called and asked as to who put the bricks in the right of way in 1907, but she was not able to tell.

Attorney Franklin H. Brown was then called by Attorney Hull and testified that he was counsel for Mrs.
Moran in December, 1904, and for the next two months. When he was asked about a conversation he had had with Attorney Shields, representing Mrs. Jewett, about cleaning up the right of way and making it passable, there was a long argument by the lawyers interested.

After spending about an hour on this point and the hearing of the statements by the lawyers, Attorney Hull called on the testimony of Judge Williams allowed it. Attorney Brown testified that he saw Mr. Shields about the cleaning up of the right of way and the filling in of the trench. He was his opinion that Mrs. Jewett's lawyer agreed to the plan of having the work done.

Upon the same matter Attorney H.
H. Pettis, who has also acted with Attorney Brown, as Mrs. Moran's counsel, was called, and he testified to talking with Attorney Shields about the cleaning up of the right of way.

The next witness was Walter H.
Woodworth, who testified to making the plans for the changes in the Moran building. Contractor Dodd testified to doing work in the rear of the building which required him to use the right of way.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

AT CHRIST CHURCH.

Sermon by Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett of New Haven.

The special services in observance of Lent began on Wednesday at Christ church at 7.30 a. m. with a prayer morning prayer, holy communion, and sermon by the rector, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey. In the evening at 7.30 the first of the midweek united service was held, the congregation of Trinity Episcopal church joining with Christ church. In spite of the stormy and refreshing evening there was a good sized congregation present.

Evening prayer was conducted by the rector and Archdeacon J. Eldred Brown of Trinity church. The sermon was by Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett of Trinity church, New Haven. Speaking from the text I. Cor. xi, 28, "But let a man examine himself," he delivered a discourse of especial appropriateness to the opening day of the Lenten season.

Introducing his helpful Lenten suggestions with a reminder of the days of school examinations, he said he liked sometimes to think of the world as God's university, where the laws of God and the lessons to be taught in his school, but how slow we are to learn. And every once in a while we are examined. But if the examination is to be of any use, it must be a test to all it is true, but the tests come.
Then we are weighed in the balance to find out how well we have learned the lessons of this school.

Such an examination time does Lent seem to be. Let us then institute a kind of self examination to see how we stand in God's school. What shall be the character of this self examination?
It may find you in one of two conditions. If the present condition of your life is smooth and pleasant, the more need is there for examination to see if it has the force behind it which shall stand the test and trial. Or it may seem to be no easy or pleasant place for you, and all is snarled and tangled.
It is the time to examine and find out what is the matter with you. Let your examination be more than a mere negative one. Examine yourself to see what you really are, that you may come to a right appreciation of your own condition. Here is the mystic word that will exorcise the demons and put you in accord with God's purposes and will.
The Lenten season then, is a time of new influx of power and sweetness and then you will be the more ready to meet the Lord at any hour, or even to stand before the throne for the great examination; to stand there with the great array of heroes and martyrs who have graduated through all time from His school.

The midweek service next week was announced to be held in Trinity church, with the sermon by Rev. H. H. Nash, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass.

The Farmers and Their Day.

It is edifying to note the attitude of farmer folk on the high cost of living.
They are getting excellent prices, and rejoice in the fact. Indignant they are not, moreover, toward those who would reduce the prices they got, by boycott, federal intervention or otherwise.
Men who have cattle on ranges, and men in the corn country who are feeding hogs for market and making good money, say the prices are very satisfactory to them. The women folk of the farm, who are looking after the poultry and eggs, out of which they get money for new hats and gowns, are quite satisfied, too, and the milkmen and buttermakers say that at last they are obtaining something for their labor and pains in taking care of their stock, getting up before daybreak to milk and to feed, and hustling off to make their deliveries before dawn, on wet, snowy or icy mornings.
It seems to be more agreeable to gather in the towns and complain of the high cost of subsistence than to accept the life and labor of the farm and share this prosperity of the farmer folk, now getting unusual prices for most of their products.—Portland Oregonian.

Want Their Jobs Back.
Mr. Murdock and Mr. Madison are two Kansas members who apparently feel that they owe more loyalty to King Carnegie than to the old King Canu-tus in Washington—Kansas City Star.

Archibald Torrance, who built the foundation for the Moran addition, testified to the time he started it and said he was stopped by an injunction on Jan. 3, 1907. Later he said he saw Attorney Brown about the clearing up of the right of way and was told to go ahead and do it. While at work there Attorney Shields sent word that he wanted to see him and he went to Mr.
Shields' office. Mr. Shields spoke of the meaning of an injunction and the danger in violating it. He told Mr.
Shields that the work was all below the surface and could be finished in two days and the debris cleaned up.
Mr. Shields told him to go ahead and he would not be stopped. He testified regarding a number of pictures of the right of way, the trench and foundation. He said he was a sub-contractor from Blackledge & company.

He was followed by E. C. Lillibridge, who testified to taking down some brickwork at the rear of the Moran building and piling up the brick against the building and inside the old building. He thought it was before the injunction was served, but identified pictures which were taken at the time of the injunction showing the job he did intact.

Charles K. Bailey testified that he had driven a large team wagon down the right of way, the distance between the hubs being seven feet and one inch. He could not remember the date.

Hugh Blackledge testified that he received the contract for the changes on the Moran building. After the injunction he had a communication from the architect to fill up the trench and make the passage safe, and he told the sub-contractor to investigate. He said he him by telephone regarding some brick piled up under the bay window of the Moran building. They did not block the way and allowed a space of ten feet for a passageway there. The brick and dimension stone were not on the side of the building when the injunction was served. After the injunction was served, he asked Mr.
Shields about moving the brick and Mr. Shields promised to let him know, but never did.

Attorney Hull at 4 o'clock made the request that the judge visit the place and see the locality and the premises.
Judge Williams stated that he would if the counsel could agree upon it, but Attorney Perkins opposed it, so that the judge will not do so until they agree on the matter, which may come after the evidence is all in. Judge Williams said he could not say that would not be influenced by seeing the property.

Court was adjourned at 4.30 o'clock until this morning at 10 o'clock.

Can any offer be fairer than this?
Is there any intelligent man or woman in this city troubled with dandruff who can afford not to accept this offer?

Parisian Sage is not a nostrum; it is the scientific preparation of one of the world's greatest dermatologists.

It will grow hair. It will cure danwill make the scalp clean and white

It is the most marvelous and efficient

Mr. Taft Not a Reactionary.

We suspect the country is getting the idea that Mr. Taft is an old fashioned republican, whereas it elected him as a new fashioned republican, and wants him to lead. In every issue in which he takes sides a certain proportion of the electorate thinks it sees him siding with privilege, protection, plunder and the old order. That is his habit. He is undoubtedly doing him great injustice. It is in his favor that his term of office has three years more to run, so that his real qualities will have time to show up if he can find time to let them. It is a mistake to suppose that he is reactionary in his political sympathies, and it is more probable to predict that Roosevelt is coming home to shake the big stick at him and tell him he is a naughty boy. The folks who are most suspicious of Mr. Taft will get back into the White House, and are most unwilling to have him, are getting ready to be sure now that he will rip Taft up the back of his head and seize the job. They are nineties—those people; there is no cure for them except time, and that is only temporary.—Life.

Mr. Ballinger's Regrets.

However right he may be, it is a fairly good guess that if Mr. Ballinger had it to do over he wouldn't fritter away 48 per cent of his time on being secretary of the interior.—Indianapolis
